

MITCHEL S. CARTER, MD, FACS

A New Jersey Monthly Top Doctor for three consecutive years, Dr. Carter is a board-certified general surgeon recognized for his outstanding reputation, unparalleled level of experience, and strong commitment to patients' well-being. "I take pride in achieving excellent results and making sure my patients get the best possible care," he says. "Since each patient and each situation is unique, whenever possible, I advocate including the patient in his or her own course of treatment. Pre- and postoperative care often takes a great deal of time and effort, and that's something I try to emphasize." Due to these efforts, many of Dr. Carter's referrals are patient-to-patient. He also has a strong physician referral base.

In practice since 1984, Dr. Carter has extensive experience in advanced laparoscopic (minimally invasive), oncological, breast, gastrointestinal, colorectal, and hernia surgery. In 1989, recognizing the advantages of laparoscopic surgery, he trained with one of the pioneers in the field. Dr. Carter subsequently brought this expertise to Morristown Memorial Hospital, where he was instrumental in starting a laparoscopic program that has grown to become one of the largest in New Jersey.

Dr. Carter is a member of Allied Surgical Group, PA, an accomplished team of seven board certified surgeons. The group performs their surgeries at Morristown Memorial Hospital and James Street Surgical Suite.
