

WILLIAM L. DIEHL, MD, FACS

Dr. Diehl is a board-certified surgeon specializing in the field of surgical oncology, having completed a two-year fellowship at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center. He has specific interest and training in liver, pancreas, colon, thyroid, and breast surgery. In private practice since 1988, Dr. Diehl is medical director of the Women's Health Center at Saint Clare's Hospital in Denville, and an attending surgeon at Morristown Memorial Hospital where he is also head of the Multidisciplinary Breast Cancer Panel. A general surgeon as well, Dr. Diehl is a member Allied Surgical Group, a multispecialty surgery practice comprised of seven board-certified physicians providing comprehensive and progressive surgical services. Born and raised in Mexico City, he is fluent in both English and Spanish.

With extensive experience in all facets of oncology, Dr. Diehl believes strongly in a holistic approach to caring for his cancer patients. "I treat the patient rather than the illness, and I try to tailor not only the treatment, but also the counseling and psychological support to each individual person," he says. In keeping with this emphasis on broad-based patient support, Dr. Diehl is a co-founder of sharingVillage Cancer Survivor Groups, (www.sharingvillage.org), a nonprofit, self-help, educational organization dedicated to the social, physical, and spiritual well-being of cancer survivors.

HOSPITAL AFFILIATION: Morristown Memorial Hospital; Saint Clare's Hospital, Denville

MEDICAL SCHOOLS: The Autonomous University of the State of Mexico; Indiana University; Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons (Morristown Memorial Hospital affiliate); Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center (fellowship in general surgical oncology)

ORGANIZATIONS: Past president, Morris County Medical Society; Morris Unit of the American Cancer Society

ALLIED SURGICAL GROUP, PA
261 James Street, Suite 2G, Morristown, NJ 07960
973-267-6400 • www.alliedsurgical.org